

“

In times of change, there are two types of people:

Leaders and everyone else.

You want to be in the leader camp.

You want to be the person acting and creating the future.

You must believe you have agency and act upon it.”

- Jessica Balsley, Founder and President,
The Art of Education University